IN MEMORIAM:

In loving memory of my husband, Elam O. Jarrells, who departed this life 1 year ago today, January 29, 1951.

It was on a Sunday morning,
I will never forget the day;
When an angel came and
Took my husband away.
The weary hours and days of pain,
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one loved so well.
His memory we shall always keep.
—Sadly missed by his Wife,
Mrs. E. O. Jarrell, and Children. (1tp)

IN MEMORIAM:

In loving memory of my husband, Ned Lefkwich, who departed this life one year ago Wednesday.
It was on a Sunday night,
I'll never forget the day,
When an angel came and took my husband away.
No morning dawns nor night returns
But that I think of him.
All he hos left are memories of a husband I loved so well,
And to think he will never come back again
Hurts more than I can tell.
All I can do, dear husband,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind a token of love
To the best husband God ever made.
—Sadly missed by Wife,
(1tp) Ciara Leftwich.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Wife and Mother, Mrs. Betty N. Williams, who died one year ago today, January 23.

If we can all the world to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more,
To hear your voice, to see your smile,
And greet you at the door.

But all we now are left to do,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind tokens of love,
To the best best mother God ever made.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But fate sudden death left loneliness
That the world can never fill.

Trans-Ocean Cable Owners Have Multitude Of Woes

WASHINGTON — Thieves and incredulous fishermen are but the least of trans-ocean cable owners' worries. Marine worms called teredos bore their way into insulation. Whales have been found choked to death in tangled line. Chemical action corrodes metallic wrappings. Cables may be crushed by a Newfoundland iceberg, cut by a trawler off Ireland, chafed by coral of tropic seas, snapped by undersea earthquakes or buried in bottom slides.

One company has plowed several of its transatlantic cables into the ooze covering the continental shelves to minimize such hazards. A plow at the end of a milelong chain was used, with the cable threaded into the ploughare.

Even "ghosts" sometimes haunt cables. Electricians at Valencia Island, Ireland, watching meters on the shore end of the last Atlantic cable of 1865, recorded garbled signals coming in from the sea—messages from Davy Jones, some said. Actually, this was the first proof that fluctuations in the earth's magnetic field occur even at the bottom of the oceans.

Wins 'Better Sires' Contest

Rappahannock County, with a total of 94 meat animal sires placed there during the last year, has been named winner of the 1951 "better sires" contest.

George Herring, animal husbandman at VPI, says the Rappahannock report shows a total of 56 bulls, 31 rams, and 7 boars placed in the county. Registration name and number of each sire is required to count toward the award. The award is made on a point basis, with greater credit given for sires placed in counties of smaller livestock population. This is to equalize the opportunity of winning, Herring explained.

The total sires placed in the project in 1951 reached a new high of 2,833 in 40 counties as compared to 2,183 in 33 counties in 1950. The total included 1,412 beef bulls, 860 rams, and 561 boars.

The contest is conducted by the animal husbandry department at VPI in cooperation with the county agents of 40 leading livestock counties in Virginia.

As the farm agent of the winning county, W. H. Lyne will be given a trip to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, Ill. next fall.

Senator Kefauver announces he will seek Democratic presidential nomination.

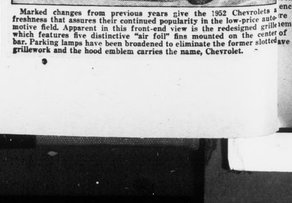
Chevrolet's Smart New 'Face'



Marked changes from previous years give the 1952 Chevrolets a freshness that assures their continued popularity in the low-price automotive field. Apparent in this front-end view is the redesigned grille which features five distinctive "air foil" fins mounted on the center of the grillework and the hood emblem carries the name, Chevrolet.

Introduce Bill To Enlarge National Park

Representative Murdock, of Arizona, this week introduced in Congress a bill to authorize the addition of land to the Appomattox Court House National Historical Monument.

The proposed legislation in routine authorization, being sought by the National Park Service so that eventually, when funds are available, a few acres of historical land not now owned by the government, may be added to make the monument area complete. Under present law, there is no authority for the acquisition of more land. The present area in the park comprises nearly 1,000 acres, and is virtually all of the land with historical association connected with the peace made April 9, 1865, ending the War Between the States.

Feature of the area at the present time is the restored McLean House, scene of the peace-making meeting of Generals Lee and Grant. Eventually the entire area will be restored.

X-Ray Unit Here Monday

The Tuberculosis Association and the State Health Department, cooperating with the medical profession, will hold an x-ray clinic at Appomattox Health Center on February 11, through noon of February 14.

The maximum cost is only $1.00.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that tuberculosis is a communicable disease,a disease in which early diagnosis is an important factor in early recovery.

Everyone who has been exposed to a case of tuberculosis in the home should be x-rayed at least at regular intervals.

If you wish an x-ray appointment contact your family physician or your County Health Department.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO HOLD MEETINGS

The February meeting of the County Board of Supervisors will be held next Wednesday, but the board members will recess Friday night to consider policy on recent legislation bringing county officers under federal social security coverage. Teachers are being transfered to federal social security coverage, and the state has enacted legislation transferring county officers, too, unless boards of supervisors decide against federal coverage.

The supervisors are watching any action of the General Assembly which may concern school appropriations and allocations, as a guide in preparation of the county budget.

Blood Charges Are Explained

In connection with the forthcoming visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Appomattox, the Rev. R. C. Maxwell, local Blood Program chairman, issued the following statement:

"Although it is true that no charge is made for blood used in transfusions where the American Red Cross Blood Program is established, yet there are the following charges made in connection with giving transfusions:

"(Average hospital costs within the jurisdiction of the Roanoke Regional Blood Center:)

"Cost of 1st transfusion, typing charge, cross matching charge: average total cost—$11.75.

"The total cost of administering blood transfusions in the hospitals operating within the jurisdiction of the Roanoke Regional Blood Center varies from three hospitals which charge only $5.00 for the first blood transfusion to one hospital which charges $17.00 for the first blood transfusion. There are legitimate reasons for this disparity in the total administrative cost of giving transfusions of blood that has been given free of charge. There is no charge for the blood itself.

"Where the American Red Cross Blood Program does not operate, there is a minimum charge of $25.00 for the blood itself plus administrative costs. It is to be hoped that some of our hospitals in the Roanoke jurisdiction will be able to lessen administrative costs so that free blood can be given patients at less cost."

LOCAL TEACHERS VISIT ART MUSEUM

A group of local teachers who have been members of a recent Extension art class, were in Richmond Saturday to visit the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. The group included:

Miss Flora Williams, Miss Harriet Holley, Miss Myrtle Smith, Mrs. Sally Martin, Mrs. C. S. Booth, Mrs. Newton Jennings, Mrs. Grover Beasley, Miss Della Inge, Mrs. O. Russell Turnes, Miss Nola Burkey, Mrs. Mildred Burkey, Mrs. T. M. Trent, Mrs. Nellie Walton, Mrs. Annie Caldwell, Mrs. Ernest Rogers, and their instructor, Miss Annie Ross, of Farmville.

Tobacco Sales Exceed 1951

With dark-fired tobacco marketing season scheduled to close today, sales volume has already passed the totals for last year. Sales for this week will set up an increase in total volume.

Growers have received a considerable boost in cash receipts from dark tobacco sales this year. Average price per pound was $2.81 per hundredweight above last season.

Last week's sales on the Farmville market were 2,466 pounds at an average of $37.96.

Eight Million Sought In Heart Drive

A total of $8,000,000 is being sought during February by the American Heart Association and its affiliates throughout the country "to carry on the vital fight against heart and circulation diseases that account for nearly half the national death toll," according to Bruce Barton, campaign chairman.

Mr. Robert Englander once again is serving as chairman of the Heart Fund drive for this county, and is being assisted by T. C. Ligon, of Pamplin. Heart-shaped collection boxes have been distributed and the public is being urged to help raise $1,500 for this county.

"About 44 per cent of all deaths in the United States are caused by heart and circulatory disease," said the chairman. "For the single year 1950, the toll was 745,000. However there is new hope for hearts in the work that has been accomplished during the past quarter of a century. It is especially important in these days when tremendous demands are being placed on this nation's military and industrial strength that we do everything we can to see that our human resources do not fail us. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels, constituting as they do our country's leading cause of death and disability, are a serious threat in our struggle for freedom.

"The public is aware by now that heart disease robs us permanently of too many of our most able and irreplaceable leaders in industry, government, science and other vital fields of endeavor. We pay heavily in the sacrifice of our loved ones, our friends, our associates, our employees to this national health menace.

"Over the age of 45, during man's most productive years, one out of every two persons dies of heart diseases. The 1952 Heart Fund will seek to raise funds to support the greatest effort ever made in medical history to find the answers to the unsolved problems of heart disease. Money is needed, too, to make sure all the available knowledge already known is placed at the disposal o f our doctors and the people it will benefit in every community."

Ask Farmers For Increased Production In 1952

(By R. B. Hudgins,
County Agent

In 1952, U. S. farmers are being asked to turn out the biggest total production in their history. The job ahead will require the utmost cooperation of farmers as well as those who supply them with production materials and equipment or who otherwise assist them.

Five outstanding reasons for more production this year are:

(1) The direct military phases of the defense program call for greatly increased supplies of food and fiber. Men in uniform eat more than civilians and military kitchens must be set up with supplies of 7 to 9 months compared with 7 to 9 days for civilians.

(2) Reserves of some storable commodities, particularly feed grains are dangerously low.

(3) There is a need for continued high exports to friendly countries. Food has made friends for the U. S. in foreign lands and must continue to do so. Continued high exports of food are vital to the achievement of world peace.

(4) An abundant production is the most logical and satisfactory way to stabilize prices.High level production is our strongest weapon in the fight against inflation.

(5) At the present rate of population increase, there will be about 2 1-2 million more people to feed and clothe from the 1952 crop and the per capita consumption of food in this country is, on the average, about 13 per cent higher than it was 10 to 15 years ago.

Expanding livestock and poultry production requires increased feed production in 1952. Greater production of meat and poultry is needed to meet growing consumer demands. In view of the heavy demand for livestock and poultry products,prices for corn and other feed grains are expected to be as high or even higher in 1952 than in 1951 and Virginia farmers have a wonderful opportunity to increase their incomes while at the same time they are building up much needed supplies of feed for the future. A reserve of one to two months compared with 7 to 9 days for civilians.

Fifty years ago the production problem could have been solved by moving westward and plowing up more land. This is not the case today. However, there are more than one-half million acres of idle farm land in Virginia. With the present emergency, we cannot afford the luxury of these idle acres which are not contributing to food production. Higher yields on land now under cultivation will also be necessary in order to meet the 1952 production goals. Every acre must be used efficiently. More attention should be given to conservation and improvement measures on grasslands to relieve the pressure on feed supplies. Much grassland acreage could produce several times more forage for livestock if sufficient fertilizer and other necessary materials could be made available.

The yield of food, feed and fiber crops per acre has gone up about 40 per cent since the early 1930's, despite substancially fewer farm workers. Further increases are possible through greater efficiency on more farms in the use of fertilizers; improved farm machinery; electrical power and equipment to supplement the dwindling manpower supply; better insect, disease, and weed control; improved seed varieties; and better land—and water-use practices in general.

Mobilization for defense is the job of everyone. Meeting this year's production goals for food, feed, and fiber is just as vital to our country's welfare as meeting defense production schedules. Abundant food production is a worthy goal under normal conditions. But there is especial need for a united effort in producing more food in 1952.

You might ask, "Why should I increase feed grain production?" The answer is that feed is needed in areas quite distant from where it is produced, particularly by poultrymen and dairymen who are dependent on such supplies.

The 1952 support price levels announced for corn have been set at 90 per cent of parity as of the beginning of the marketing year, the maximum permitted by the sliding scale under existing legislation.

The support level for wheat has been announced at 90 per cent of the parity price at the beginning of the marketing year, as of July 1, 1952, but not less than $2.17 per bushel.

For further information on increasing production or yields, consult your county agent or other members of the Mobilization Committee.
